

Health and Safety Policy Statement

Document HP00

Tomah Engineers Ltd aims to provide a safe working environment, machinery and building in compliance to the current Health and Safety legislation.

We acknowledge that this health and safety policy is the responsibility of the Managing Director, the management team and all the staff to ensure all matters are adhered to which will prevent accidents and work-related ill health.

In our commitment to achieving this aim we will continually review and update and control all risks which are identified during work practices.

The company will hold frequent health and safety briefings where we consult with the work team to ensure all health and safety matters are discussed and to ensure that the correct procedures are being followed. The consultations will also identify any necessary plant maintenance and individual safety training needs.

The company use's external partners to assist with keeping awareness of the team's occupational health requirements.

The health and safety policy is under constant review to ensure its effectiveness, and with the clear aim of improvement, and preventing work based accidents and work related ill health. Any updates to our methods and systems will be communicated to all involved.
